SENIOR NEWS LINE

by Matilda Charles

Products to Make Our Lives Easier

The older we get, the less we care about brand names. We're more concerned with how easy something is to use and whether it does what we need it to do.

Take cell phones, for example. Have you noticed that they're getting smaller and smaller as technology gets better? And there's the not-so-small matter of the monthly charge for a cell phone when you sign a two-year contract.

The Jitterbug cell phone might not be fancy, but it has some features that are just right for us: big buttons that we can actually see, simple dialing and inexpensive dialing plans that include long distance.

If you're in the market for a cell phone that's easier to use, check Jitterbug at www.jitterbug.com or call 1-800-918-8543 to ask questions. Be sure there's service in your area.

I found a great place on the Internet to look for other items that can make our lives easier, too: the Senior Store.

Check out the wide variety of just-for-us merchandise at www.seniorstore.com, and you'll be pleasantly surprised at what's available. Check especially the categories Household Gifts and Low Vision Products.

There are large-button TV remotes with good contrast between buttons and the background, making it much easier to easily find the right button.

One item I've found very handy is a tiny magnifier the size of a credit card that can be put in a wallet. It's great for reading menus. The large text address book and easy-to-read wall calendars are helpful, too.

If a special occasion is coming up and somebody asks you what you'd like as a gift, avoid getting yet another knickknack or shirt and send them to The Senior Store instead.

Matilda Charles regrets that she cannot personally answer reader questions, but will incorporate them into her column whenever possible. Write to her in care of King Features Weekly Service, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475, or send e-mail to columnreply@gmail.com.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING TWO
Spicy Corn Bread

This deliciously moist and tender bread is best served warm. If you like, you can make it ahead and reheat it right in the baking pan, covered, at 400 F for 20 minutes.

1 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
2 cups yellow cornmeal
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
6 tablespoons cold butter or margarine, cut up
1 can (14-ounce) cream-style corn
2 large eggs, beaten
4 green onions, sliced

1. Preheat oven to 400 F. Grease 13-by-9-inch metal baking pan.

2. In large bowl, mix flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder, salt and pepper. With pastry blender or 2 knives used scissor-fashion, cut in butter until mixture resembles fine crumbs. With fork, stir corn, eggs and green onions into flour mixture until just blended (batter will be very stiff).

3. Spoon batter into baking pan; spread evenly. Bake corn bread 25 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on wire rack 10 minutes to serve warm, or cool completely in pan to serve later.

4. Cut lengthwise into 4 strips, then cut each strip crosswise into 6 pieces. Reheat before serving if you like. Makes 24 servings.

It's an information jungle out there.

Nearly one American every minute is a victim of identity theft. The thieves don't need much. A receipt you left behind. A bill mailed from your mailbox. A missing check. Information provided over the Internet to strangers. You get the idea.

Banks help catch and prosecute these crooks. You can help, too.

- Never give your Social Security number or credit information to anyone who calls you.
- Tear up receipts and unused credit card offers.
- Don't mail bills from your mailbox. Thieves may use them to change your address.
- Review your monthly accounts for fraud regularly.
- Order copies of your credit report once a year to insure accuracy.
- Protect your Personal Identification Number (PIN). Don't carry that information on you.
- Report suspected fraud to your bank immediately.

For more information, call us. Or visit the Web site of the American Bankers Association at www.aba.com. Don't get caught alone in the jungle.

COLLECTING By Larry Cox

Q: I have a bowl that was identified by a dealer as being a piece of Rouge Flambe. What is Rouge Flambe? -- Doris, Pueblo West, Colo.

A: Rouge Flambe is an art glass that was introduced by Frederick Carder at Steuben shortly before World War I. The vibrant color was produced by the addition of selenium and cadmium sulfides to the batch of glass. The result ranged from a rich red to orange and coral pink. Pieces are extremely rare, since Rouge Flambe glass is very brittle and apt to break. I recently saw a small vase sell at auction for $1,200. (c) 2009 King Features Synd., Inc.

NOTICE

As you know, we run many reader ads for government auctions, job positions, earn money at home, cash loans, credit cards, etc. Most of these ads come through state and national ad networks. Most of them are selling directories or listings of where to APPLY FOR what is advertised. This information may be available at less cost elsewhere. While these ads are screened where possible, we have no way of verifying the authenticity of their claims or the value of their product. The buying decision must be yours. If you have problems with any of these advertisers, please let us know and we will attempt to get you a refund. Most of the companies we have checked will refund their fees to unsatisfied customers. Read the ads carefully. Some charge a fee, as noted in the ad, directly to your phone bill when you call them. Once again, we can't verify claims for every ad. Please consider their offer and make a voluntary and reasonable buying decision.

ALFRED STATE COLLEGE AND ANIMAL WELFARE APPROVED HOST SUMMIT TO PLAN FOOD SUPPLY CHAIN FROM WESTERN NEW YORK STATE TO NEW YORK CITY

Farmers, State Agriculture Representatives And New York City Chefs And Distributors To Meet On April 23, 2009

Alfred, NY. Animal Welfare Approved and Alfred State College will bring New York City chefs and food purveyors together with local farmers and agricultural experts at an April 23 summit to plan a supply chain from western New York State farms to the New York City market.

"New York City consumers want more from their food these days in addition to great taste and good nutrition," said Bill Telepan, owner and chef of the renowned Manhattan restaurant that carries his name and who will be a speaker at the summit. "They want to know who raised it and how. And I want that, too."

But even the most dedicated retail buyer or chef is having a difficult time providing what customers want and are frustrated by the lack of a consistent supply chain to the tables of New York City. The day long series of panel discussions will address the issues the two groups face and explore solutions.

"There are great farmers producing terrific meat, dairy and eggs right in my own state and I'm having trouble getting their products," Telepan remarked. "It's a dilemma desperate for an answer."

Other participants at the summit include David Schuttenberg, executive chef of the Manhattan restaurant Cabrito (Zac Pelaccio group); Patrick Martins and Jeremy Hirsch of Heritage Foods USA, a New York City based distributor of sustainable heritage breed products; Nicholas D'Agostino III, president and COO of D'Agostino Supermarkets, a presence in New York City for 75 years; Tom Sleight, executive director of the New York Farm Viability Institute, a partner for the event; Tom Tolputt, of Cornish River Valley Meat in the UK, who will talk about British efforts and successes in reaching the London market; J.H. Bahn, national program leader, USDA-CSREES, Washington, D.C.; western New York State farmers Willard DeGolyer, Mary Howell Martens and Klaas Martens; Greg Bowman, communications manager for the Rodale Institute; Dr. Patricia Whisnart, president of the American Grassfed Association; and Judith LaBelle, president of Glynwood Center.

"Our farmers look to us for innovative solutions for the issues they face," said Alfred State College president Dr. John Anderson. "Partnering with Animal Welfare Approved to bring together the stakeholders needed to enhance the marketing and delivery of farm products to New York City is exactly the kind of results oriented thinking our students, farmers and

EASY, HEALTHY BACON FLAVOR

I love bacon! I can't eat it like I used to, but I have found a healthy way to enjoy the flavor of it without the negative things like fat, sodium and cholesterol. I bought a bottle of the soy bacon bits and pureed them to a fine mist in the food processor. I spooned this into a shaker bottle, and now I have my own tasty and frugal bacon seasoning for less than $2. I sprinkle it on scrambled eggs, salads, baked/mashed potatoes, cooked veggies, dips, etc. You can also add a touch of your favorite spices, such as onion or garlic powder, paprika, dried parsley, and black or red pepper.

THE KITCHEN DIVA
By Angela Shelf Medearis
Eggs Go Beyond Breakfast

The budget for food is a little tight these days, even at The Kitchen Diva's house. I'm always looking for healthy and less-expensive sources of protein and something different to serve at family mealtimes. I've found it in Egglard's Best eggs, which were developed for people who want to eat healthy on a budget, but still want great taste. The debate about which came first, the chicken or the egg, may always puzzle scholars. With Egglard's Best, it all starts with the special hen feed created to produce its eggs. The patented feed is all-vegetarian and contains healthy grains, canola oil and an all-natural supplement of rice bran, alfalfa, sea kelp and vitamin E. The Egglard's Best hen feed contains no animal fat, no animal byproducts and no recycled or processed food. Egglard's Best never uses hormones, steroids or antibiotics of any kind.

Simply put, because the Egglard's Best hen diet is superior, Egglard's Best hens lay nutritionally superior eggs. You also can buy the eggs in Cage Free and Organic varieties.

The Egglard's Best eggs have been certified by the American Vegetarian Association as part of a vegetarian diet. They also have been recommended by the American Diabetes Association, as well as the American Dietetic Association. According to these two respected health organizations, one Egglard's Best egg can be exchanged for one medium-fat meat or meat substitute.

These nutrition-packed eggs provide essential nutrients, including Omega 3 fatty acids, iodine, vitamin E and the antioxidant lutein for eye health and the prevention of macular degeneration in elderly and people with diabetes. They also contain a similar mix of carbohydrates, protein, fat and calories that can be substituted for other foods by people on special or restricted diets. Egglard's Best eggs have been clinically proven to be compatible with a cholesterol-conscious diet when eaten in place of higher-fat foods.

If you haven't incorporated eggs into your dinner menu, Egglard's Best offers a variety of recipes to take eggs beyond breakfast. These burritos are easy to prepare and make a delicious meal for vegetarians and non-vegetarians alike.

EGGLAND'S BEST BURRITOS

The eggs, beans and cheese in these delicious burritos offer healthy and inexpensive protein replacements for ground meat, chicken or fish.

8 large Egglard's Best eggs
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 cup mild to hot salsa, divided
8 low-fat whole wheat tortillas
1/2 cup low-fat refried beans
1 cup low-fat Cheddar cheese, shredded
2 ripe avocados, sliced

Spray a non-stick skillet with cooking spray. Beat eggs with the salt and pepper, and a tablespoon of the salsa. Pour eggs into skillet and cook over medium-low heat, stirring constantly until slightly set, about 2 minutes. Add 2 tablespoons of cheese and stir until the eggs are set. Spread a tablespoon of refried beans on each tortilla. Cover tortillas with damp paper towel and microwave for 20 to 30 seconds until soft and pliable. Spread the egg and cheese filling down the center of the tortilla. Add remaining salsa and a few slices of avocado on each tortilla. Fold one side of the tortilla over filling. Fold up the bottom. Roll securely to close. Top with additional salsa, if desired, and a sprinkle of cheese. Serves 4.

MOMENTS IN TIME
The History Channel

- On April 23, 1564, according to tradition, the great English dramatist and poet William Shakespeare is born in Stratford-on-Avon. It is impossible to be certain of the exact day, but church records show that Shakespeare was baptized on April 26, and three days was a customary amount of time to wait before baptizing a newborn.

- On April 26, 1865, John Wilkes Booth, who assassinated President Abraham Lincoln 12 days earlier, is killed when Union soldiers track him down to a Virginia farm. The original plan involved a simultaneous assassination of Lincoln, Vice President Andrew Johnson and Secretary of State William Seward.

- On April 22, 1889, at precisely high noon, thousands of would-be settlers make a mad dash into the newly opened Oklahoma Territory to claim cheap land. All told, from 50,000 to 60,000 settlers entered the territory that day. Towns like Norman, Oklahoma City, Kingfisher and Guthrie sprang into being almost overnight.

- On April 24, 1916, on Easter Monday in Dublin, the Irish Republican Brotherhood, a secret organization of Irish nationalists led by Patrick Pearse, launches the so-called Easter Rebellion, an armed uprising against British rule. Rioters attacked British provincial government headquarters across Dublin and seized the Irish capital's General Post Office.

- On April 21, 1956, "Heartbreak Hotel" hits the top of the Billboard charts. The song was Elvis' first No. 1 hit. In his lifetime, he earned 94 gold singles and more than 40 gold LPs.

- On April 20, 1980, the Castro regime announces that all Cubans wishing to emigrate to the U.S. are free to board boats at the port of Mariel west of Havana, launching the Mariel Boatlift. In all, 125,000 Cubans fled to U.S. shores in about 1,700 boats, creating large waves of refugees that overwhelmed the U.S. Coast guard.

- On April 25, 1995, actress Ginger Rogers dies at the age of 83. Best known for the 10 films she made with dance partner Fred Astaire, Rogers also appeared in a wide variety of comic and dramatic roles and won an Oscar for Best Actress in the 1940 drama "Kitty Foyle."

CELEBRITY EXTRA By Cindy Elavsky

Q: I'm looking for news about Brooke Shields' "Lipstick Jungle." I heard it was not picked up, then maybe it was, and then nothing. What have you heard? -- Marsha, Kansas City, Mo.

A: A few months back, an early rumor came out that the show had been canceled, which was quickly refuted by all involved. Now, however, it is official, "Lipstick Jungle" has been given the ax. Brooke recently told news outlet E! Online: "We just were officially told it's finally not coming back. It's very sad, but I think we hung on a really long time. It has been) three great years." Brooke's co-star, Kim Raver (Nico), was recently cast in the ABC pilot "Inside the Box," while Robert Buckley (Kirby) has already begun working on the CW's "Privileged."

Q: Whatever happened to Sasha Alexander from "NCIS"? I miss her character. -- Jim J., Fremont, Ohio

A: Sasha, 35, first gained prominence as an actress when she co-starred as Pacey Witter's sister, Gretchen, on the teen drama "Dawson's Creek" from 2000-'01. She went on to "CSI" and "Presidio Med" before landing the popular role of Agent Todd on "NCIS." Since leaving the series in 2005, Sasha has landed supporting roles in "Mission: Impossible III," "Yes Man" and "He's Just Not That Into You." Coming up, she has "Traveling," which also stars Jennifer Aniston and Aaron Eckhart, as well as "Play Dead," with "American Pie" star Chris Klein and Limp Bizkit frontman Fred Durst.

The mystery letter is G.

STRANGE BUT TRUE

that was conducted recently, more than 40 percent of women in the United States admitted that they would wear a stylish shoe even if it were uncomfortable. If you're a woman, you might be surprised that the figure was only 40 percent.

• Resources are very scarce in space, so it's important to conserve wherever possible. The astronauts on the International Space Station might be going a bit far, however; it's been reported that they change their underwear only every three or four days in order to cut down on laundry.

• At one time in Corpus Christi, Texas, city leaders saw fit to make it illegal for an individual to raise alligators in his or her home.

• The next time you find yourself picking up a complimentary toothpick on your way out of a restaurant, you might want to consider this fact: More Americans choke on toothpicks than on any other item.

• If you're a man, you might be surprised to learn that in a survey

• Those who study such things say that the average grocery store today carries approximately 30,000 different items -- that's more than twice as many items as those stores carried 20 years ago.

• A couple of years ago, Mariah Carey -- the American singer, songwriter, actress and, not incidentally, pitch woman for Gillette's "Legs of a Goddess" ad campaign -- insured her legs for $1 billion.

NOW HERE'S A TIP
By JoAnn Derson

- Go Green Tip: When cooking, use the size pot that fits the burner, or the burner that is the best size for the pot. A 6-inch pot on an 8-inch burner wastes more than 40 percent of the burner's heat, according to the EPA.

- Use a window squeegee to remove hair from compacted carpets or upholstery.

- "Nail polish remover can remove burned-on plastic from the top of a toaster oven. If you've ever forgotten to remove the bread bag, you can appreciate the tip." -- B.P., via e-mail

- "We're a busy family, so each week, the dinner menu is posted on the fridge in a plastic paper-holding sleeve. Behind it are the recipes or instructions for that week's meals. Whoever gets home first gets things started. That person also pulls anything that needs to be defrosted for the next meal. It has worked to help everyone do their share." -- P.L. in Ohio

- Children's art can be used in many ways: laminated as a placemat, temporary bookmark, stationery to family members or decoration for gifts (when cut and pasted onto plain-color wrapping paper).

Birding BITS

April Showers
 ... may bring May flowers, but in a birders world, April showers make birdseed wet and soggy—and wet soggy seed has bacteria that can make birds sick. Be extra attentive this rainy season and keep your feeders clean and dry. The birds will thank you!

Iron Chef Cat Cora puts a new twist on a classic American favorite, U.S. Farm-Raised Catfish.
(NU) - Americans don't need to be from the South to enjoy a catfish dinner. The fish, with its mild, sweet flavor, easy preparation and impressive nutritional profile, lends itself to both family suppers and upscale dining.

From New England to the Pacific to the South, catfish tastes great deep-fried, broiled, baked, grilled, blackened, sautéed or stir-fried. U.S. Farm-Raised Catfish is available all year and is a healthy addition to almost any recipe.

Try this recipe from Cat Cora, star of Food Network's "Iron Chef America":

Cat Cora's Catfish Scaloppini
with Vine-Ripened Tomatoes

4 slices vine-ripened tomato

1 teaspoon salt

1/8 teaspoon freshly ground

black pepper

Red wine vinegar

2 (4-ounce) U.S. Farm-Raised Catfish filets, pounded lightly into scaloppini

Breading: 1 cup flour; 2 eggs beaten with 1 tablespoon water; 2 cups panko bread crumbs

3 tablespoons olive oil

2 tablespoons butter

6 to 8 cloves garlic, sliced

6 fresh basil leaves

1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice Place the tomato slices on a heat-proof platter. Lightly sprinkle with salt and pepper. Drizzle with red wine vinegar.

Pass the filets through the flour, dip in the egg wash and coat with bread crumbs.

Heat the olive oil in a 12-inch sauté pan over medium-high heat.
Place the scaloppini in the hot oil and brown well on each side.

Remove the browned catfish, and place over the tomatoes, and sprinkle with salt. Place the platter in the center of the oven at low temperature to keep warm while preparing the sauce.

Discard any excess oil from the sauté pan. Add the butter to the pan, and place the pan over medium heat. Allow the butter to melt and then brown slightly.
Immediately add the garlic and the basil leaves and swirl them in the pan continuously so they do not burn.

As the garlic softens and the basil becomes crisp, add the lemon juice and continue to swirl the ingredients together until well combined. Remove the pan from heat. Remove the catfish and tomato platter from oven. Pour the sauce over the top of the fish and serve.

recipes, please visit

DOLLAR STRETCHERS THINK ABOUT THIS

One day recently, I suddenly realized that the pill bottles I was throwing away had all of my personal information, along with my doctor's name, number, and other information. I decided to take the extra two seconds to peel and destroy the label from my used bottles. The same information appears on the drug information sheets that are now included with each prescription filled at the major pharmacies. I shred them, too. I get a number of unsolicited credit card applications and catalogs. However, I didn't notice for a long time that catalogs have preprinted information inside, on the order form, as well as on the address label outside. The order forms are usually inserts and can be torn out and shredded in seconds. JAW in Baltimore, MD

IT PAYS TO DRIVE LESS

I drive much less than the national average, under 7500 miles a year.
Not only do I save a lot of money on maintenance and gasoline, but also my insurance company charges me about $200 less per year for coverage, even at rather high limits. It's worth checking to see if yours does the same.

The Torch Has Passed

MARTINSVILLE, Va. -- It's a familiar scene: Jimmie Johnson, Chad Knaus and Rick Hendrick, enjoying a victory. At Martinsville Speedway, it's become the norm. Johnson has claimed five of the past six Sprint Cup races at the oldest track still active on the Sprint Cup Series.

Johnson has won with ease and difficulty, joyous triumphs alternated with wistful remorse stemming from the Hendrick Motorsports plane tragedy near here in 2004. He's been both counted out and presumed too early. At the end of long, taxing days at one of NASCAR's more exhilarating tracks, Johnson repeatedly emerges victorious.

Thus, the victories have begun to run together. Martinsville winners receive $11,000 grandfather clocks for their achievements. Johnson must have ringing in his ears.

Not many drivers learn the nuances of winning at Martinsville. Only two active drivers have won more than twice at the paper-clip-shaped oval. Jeff Gordon, Johnson's teammate, has won seven times here, but it's taken him 33 tries. Johnson's six victories have all come in a span of 15 Martinsville races. That's enough to convince Gordon.

"He really has just dominated and taken a hold of this place," said Gordon of Johnson, who has risen from 19th to fourth in the points standings in just three weeks.

Gordon still leads the points, but it will take more than repeated top-five finishes to keep Johnson, who is going for a fourth consecutive championship, at bay. Gordon knows this. The 142 points separating them might as well be fog or mist. Everything starts over with the Chase in the fall. Even at this early point in the season, it's obvious that Gordon and Johnson are going to make the Chase.

Gordon needs to see Victory Lane, too, and it's been 47 races now.

It doesn't help that they're friends. Not anymore. Gordon remains the greatest driver of his generation. Forty-seven races without a victory is a drought, a famine and a pestilence combined for a man who has won 81 times in his career.

What Gordon must prove is that this is still his generation.

BRMC'S STEVEN HERRMANN, M.D., SELECTED TO "BEST PHYSICIANS" PUBLICATION

Bradford Regional Medical Center's (BRMC) Steven Herrmann, M.D., Ph.D., F.A.C.C., F.A.S.E., medical director of the hospital's Cardiovascular Services and the region's only board-certified physician in cardiovascular imaging, will be included in a national "Best Physicians 2009" edition of U.S. cardiologists. This will be the third time Dr. Herrmann has been selected to a publication spotlighting the best cardiologists in the country.

Dr. Herrmann, who leads BRMC's Heart Center, works to provide the highest levels of cardiac care. The cardiologist will be recognized in the Victoria Foundation's publication, scheduled to be printed this summer and available nationally by fall.

"We're extremely proud to have a specialist of Dr. Herrmann's caliber and credentials in the region, and especially excited about this latest honor," said BRMC President/CEO George E. Leonhardt. "As a nationally recognized physician with over a decade of experience in advanced heart disease and cardiac testing, this new award highlights the level of professional achievement that Dr. Herrmann has been known for among both his peers and patients."

According to publication officials, Dr. Herrmann was one of 500 cardiologists selected for this publication from a total of 28,000 cardiologists throughout the U.S. "Our selection of cardiologists was based on information provided to us from the American Medical Association and also Castle Connolly Medical Ltd., a service that rates doctors" based on peer nominations, explained Mark Adamson, director of the Alpharetta, Ga.-based Victoria Foundation which began in 1997. The foundation supports education at various levels, ranging from The Keystone School for autistic children in Alpharetta to Galen University at San Ignacio, Belize, Mexico. f

FOR SANITY'S SAKE
By Taprina Milburn

Greedy
Normally I'm not a fisherman. The whole concept of sitting and waiting on something to bite is too much for me. The only time I fished as a child was with my father. I was a city kid and hadn't been trained in how to cast a line, and if I remember right, I immediately tangled my line with my dad's. To a true fisherman, tangling a line with a novice is the equivalent of someone dragging their fingernails across a chalkboard.

Fishing was not for me, I vowed.
I'm thinking about this event as I fished with my husband and kids a couple of years ago. My husband ran back and forth from our son to our daughter, untangling lines, cutting lines, teaching them how to tie their own lines. If he's frustrated, he's hiding it well.
My line got caught in a rock.
"I hate fishing," I grumble and put my pole down and go on to other things.
I don't return to it until the next day, determined not to be a sorry sport.
As I get older, I've begun praying for silly things. Everything, as a matter of fact.
This morning wasn't any different.
"Please, God, let us each catch a fish," I say as I cast a pretty decent Greedy will make you do weird things. I was drunk with the idea of catching the most fish that day. So I walked into the water (barely 50 degree water; the kind that takes your breath away). First I was up to my knees, then my waist, then my armpits.

My kids and husband thought I'd lost my mind.
"What are you doing?" they yelled.
Wild-eyed and freezing, I told them I had more fish to catch.
Just as I set my line free, my son asks: "Mom ... can I have my pole back now?"
I thought about not sharing -- demanding little squirt.
But I handed the pole over and changed into dry clothes. I was chilled to the core the entire day.
My husband caught a fish later in the day, too. We cooked the fish over the campfire.
And you know what I finally noticed? I'd forgotten to tell God thank you for what he'd given us that day. And if we'd caught any more than the two fish, we'd had way too much.
Greedy can make you forget what enough looks like.

line.
I'm not exaggerating. The prayer wasn't off my tongue before I had a tug on the line. And not just any tug, but a hardy pull, and for the next five or so minutes I wrestled to get the fish in.
I was giddy.
And then I turned greedy.
If I can catch one fish, I can catch them all, I told myself.
My husband kept going on and on about how big my fish was.
"Yeah, yeah," I said. "Just get this sucker off my line so I can go back and catch more."
I didn't notice how big my fish was. It wasn't enough-size or quantity. I was going in for the big haul.
I found my spot and I cast my line. And wouldn't you know it, I felt a tug. I reeled in my line until I could reel no more. But there wasn't a fish on the end. Instead, my hook was lodged between two rocks.
