How To Use Sims 4 Cheats

In order to use Sims 4 cheats, you'll need to navigate to the cheats console. This is done by hitting Ctrl+Shift+C on a Windows PC or Cmd+Shift+C on a Mac.

Once the cheat console is open, you need to enable cheats by typing and entering this code: testingcheats true

And then enter this code: AutomationTestingCheats true

Once you've entered those codes, using cheats is now possible. Simply type in the cheat code of your choice into the console and hit Enter. Codes must be entered one at a time for them to work.

When you see a Sims 4 cheat code on our list with brackets in it, you don’t need to type these. We've just placed them in the code to show you where there is specific information you need to enter.

For example: death.toggle [true/false]
If you want to turn death off, you would enter this into the Sims 4 cheats console: death.toggle false

That's it! Now, on to the cheats!

Death by Exhaustion
Add this buff and your sim might die immediately. If not, try working out. This doesn't always work as the workout options will gray out.
