Neoclassicism and Romanticism were the movements after the Rococo period that flourished across Western Europe and the United States which spanned approximately from the late eighteenth to the nineteenth centuries.

NEOCLASSICISM, 1780-1840

The word neoclassic came from the Greek word neos meaning new and the Latin word classical which is similar in meaning to the English phrase first class.

The Western movement in decorative and visual arts was called Neoclassicism. It also applies to literature, theater, music, and architecture that were influenced by the classical art and culture of Ancient Greece and Ancient Rome.

The Neoclassical movement coincided with the 18th century Age of Reason also known as the Age of Enlightenment. The art style in this period was brought about by the renewed interest in Greek and Roman classics.

Neoclassical art pieces such as paintings, sculpture and architecture generally portrayed Roman history which elevated the Roman heroes.

Characteristics:
- Portrayal of Roman history
- Formal composition
- The use of diagonals to show the peak of an emotion or moment (versus a regular moment)
- Local color
- Overall lighting
- Classic geo-structure

Classicism refers to the art forms produced in antiquity or inspired by it afterward, while Neoclassicism always refers to the art forms inspired by ancient times, but created later.

NEOCLASSICAL PAINTING

Neoclassical artists embraced the ideals of order and moderation in which artistic interpretations of classic Greek and Roman history were restored to realistic portrayals. Neoclassical painters gave great importance to the costumes, settings and details of classical subject-matter without adding distracting details but with as much historical accuracy as possible.

NEO-CLASSICAL ARTISTS

1. Jacques-Louis David (1748-1825) France

Was an influential French painter in the neoclassical style, and considered to be the pre-eminent painter of the era. His subjects of paintings were more on history.

Famous Artworks:

THE DEATH OF MARAT, NAPOLEON CROSSING THE ALPS, OATH OF THE HORATII
2. JEAN-AUGUSTE-DOMINIQUE INGRES (1780-1867) France

Was a pupil of Jacques Louis David. His paintings were usually nudes, portraits and mythological themes. He was regarded as one of the great exemplars of academic art and one of the finest Old Masters of his era.

Famous Artworks:

- PORTRAIT OF NAPOLÉON ON THE IMPERIAL THRONE, THE APOTHEOSIS OF HOMER

NEOCLASSICAL SCULPTURES

Artists looked to Roman styles during the time of Alexander the Great for inspiration as well as to mimic their style.

1. ANTONIO CANOVA (1757-1822) Italy

Canoa was a prolific Italian artist and sculptor who became famous for his marble sculptures that delicately rendered nude flesh.

Famous Artworks:

NEOCLASSICAL ARCHITECTURE

Neoclassical architectural styles started in the mid-18th century. It turned away from the grandeur of Rococo style and the Late Baroque. In its purest form, Neoclassical architecture was a style principally derived from the architecture of Classical Greece and Rome and the architectural designs of the Italian architect Andrea Palladio.

Types of Neoclassical Architecture:

TEMPLE STYLE

Temple style building design was based on an ancient temple. These buildings were uncommon during the Renaissance as architects of that period focused mainly on applying classical elements to churches and modern buildings like palazzos and villas.

Many temple style buildings feature a peristyle (a continuous line of columns around a building), a rare feature of Renaissance architecture.

Most famous Temple Style buildings of the Neoclassical age:

- PANTHEON, BRITISH MUSEUM, LA MADELEINE DE PARIS

PALLADIAN STYLE

Palladian buildings were based on Andrea Palladio’s style of villa construction. Some of the buildings feature a balustrade which is a railing with vertical supports along the edge of the roof. There are vertical supports within a balustrade known as “balusters” or spindles”. It is also a classical method of crowning a building that has a flat or low lying roof. One of the famous architects in the era was:
ROBERT ADAM (1728-1792) Britain

He was known as the Palladian architect of the Neoclassical who designed two well-known American civic buildings- The White House and the United States Capitol. He had also designed many country houses.

CLASSICAL BLOCK STYLE

The building features a rectangular or square plan, with a flat roof and an exterior rich in classical detail. The exterior features a repeated classical pattern or series of arches and/or columns. The overall impression of such a building was a huge, classically-decorated rectangular block.

Classical block aesthetic was also known as “Beaux-Arts style”, since it was developed principally by the French École des Beaux-Arts (School of Fine Arts).

Classical block architecture also flourished in the United States, particularly in New York.

Famous Architects of this architectural style were:

A. HENRI LABROUSTE - His masterpiece is the Library of Sainte-Geneviève.
B. CHARLES GARNIER – He designed the most famous classical block of all which is the Palais Garnier (a Neobaroque opera house).

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY BY: CHARLES FOLLEN MCKIM, 1895

ROMANTICISM, 1800s-1810s

Romanticism was a movement in which the artists of Neoclassical period sought to break new ground in the expression of emotion, both subtle and stormy. It embraced a number of distinctive themes, such as a longing for history, supernatural elements, social injustices, and nature.

Landscape painting also became more popular due to the peoples' romantic adoration of nature.

Romanticism was a reaction to the classical, contemplative nature of Neoclassical pieces.

Characteristics:
- shows the height of action
- emotional extremes
- celebrated nature as out of control
- dramatic compositions
- heightened sensation (life and death moments)

ROMANTIC PAINTING (Portraits/Figures)

The paintings of the Romantic period gave more emphasis on emotion. Artists expressed as much feeling and passion as it could be on a canvas.

GOTHIC REVIVAL ARCHITECTURE (NEOGOTHIC)

Gothic Revival also referred to as Victorian Gothic or Neo-Gothic, is an architectural movement that began in the late 1740s in England.

Many of Neogothic buildings feature castellation in which the walls and towers are crenellated in imitation of medieval castles. Indeed, heavily castellated Neogothic buildings have been often referred to as “castles”, even though they never served as a defensive structure. Among them was Strawberry Hill
(demolished and restored), the most famous work of the decorative phase of the Gothic Revival.

Gothic Revival became widely used for churches and civic buildings throughout the West, especially in Britain and the United States. Bricks and stones were both commonly used.

Architects who used Neogothic Style:
1. CHARLES BARRY was the name behind Britain’s foremost Gothic Revival monument, the Westminster Palace (a.k.a. the Houses of Parliament).

2. JAMES RENWICK
Renwick’s crowning American work: the St. Patrick’s Cathedral (New York).
