“HAP’s Achievement Awards program began in 1978 as a way to recognize the innovation of Pennsylvania’s health care organizations. Over 30 years later, we continue to celebrate the exceptional leadership, teamwork, and creativity within our hospitals as you work to identify new ways to improve health care delivery, address problems, and meet the host of new challenges that arise in an ever changing health care environment,” Thompson said.

HAP is a statewide membership services organization that advocates for nearly 250 Pennsylvania acute and specialty care, primary care, subacute care, long-term care, home health, and hospice providers, as well as the patients and communities they serve. Additional information about HAP is available online at www.haponline.org

BRMC LAUNCHES PULMONARY REHABILITATION PROGRAM

Bradford Regional Medical Center (BRMC) recently launched a program to treat patients with chronic breathing problems.

The new pulmonary rehabilitation program is designed to treat and reduce systems associated with chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), said hospital officials.

COPD refers to chronic bronchitis and emphysema, a pair of commonly co-existing diseases of the lung in which the one-on-one guidance by trained clinical staff. The sessions provide for muscle strengthening and aerobic capacity drills tailored to each individual's condition. Patients will also receive nutrition education and, if necessary, smoking cessation instructions.

"The goal of pulmonary rehab is to reduce patients' symptoms, increase their participation in physical and social activities, and improve their overall quality of life," said Penny Oyler, BRMC's director of Cardiopulmonary Services.

Enrolling in the pulmonary rehabilitation program requires a physician's referral. Patients are encouraged to contact their doctor for a referral to the new program.

"Pulmonary rehabilitation is an integral part of the clinical management and health maintenance of those patients with chronic respiratory disease who remain symptomatic or continue to have decreased function despite standard medical treatment," said Frank Arnal, M.D., F.C.C.P, the pulmonary medical director at BRMC. Dr. Arnal is board certified in Pulmonary, Internal, Critical Care and Sleep Medicine.

For more information about pulmonary rehabilitation, go online at www.brmc.com and click on MedlinePlus, a service of the U.S. National Library of Medicine and the National Institutes of Health, or call Ms. Oyler at 814-362-8268.

Bradford Regional Medical Center and Olean General Hospital are members of Upper Allegheny Health System.

WAREHOUSE PRICING

We did the homework for you, and can't wait to see you here at Paul Brown's!

Quite simply, warehouse pricing saves you time and money. Today many dealers are in the habit of cleaning up vehicles for their used car lots and simply marking them up 4 to 5 thousand dollars and hoping an uninformed customer walks in and takes the bait. Not at Paul Brown's! With the power of the internet, today's car shoppers are smarter than ever. With a few clicks, buyers can find plenty of vehicles to choose from and quickly realize what's a good deal and what's not. We save you the time. Before a vehicle hits our lot, we scan the market within a 300 mile radius to survey how each dealer has priced similar vehicles. Over 25,000 websites are surveyed as well as local newspapers and classifieds. With that information in hand we carefully price our vehicle to be within the top ten percent of the market for similar vehicles. Regardless of profit or loss, that's where they are priced. Why? To save you time, and help us be assured that we are providing a good car at a good value. We are not guessing at it like other dealers, we can show you what a great deal you are getting. On every vehicle on our lot you will find a copy of the nationally recognized Kelly Blue Book retail value. Below that you will find our Paul Brown Warehouse Price (usually thousands under Kelly Blue Book). Our vehicles are re-priced weekly so keep checking back with us, sometimes the deals get even sweeter. Don't wait long though, with warehouse pricing, over 90 percent of our inventory is sold within 30 days.

EMERALD ASH BORER (EAB) INFORMATIONAL MEETING OPEN TO THE PUBLIC Cornell University Cooperative Extension will host an informational public meeting regarding the Emerald Ash Borer
(EAB) on Wednesday, June 30th, at 7pm at the Randolph Fire Hall, located at 70 Main Street in Randolph. Please note that the fire hall is located behind the Randolph Municipal Building at 72 Main Street.
At the upcoming meeting, Cornell University, DEC and NYS Ag & Markets experts will be present to share information and answer questions on the EAB. The meeting will offer area residents and public officials an opportunity to learn more about the EAB, what actions individuals and communities can take to help reduce the spread and minimize economic impacts of the EAB, and the ongoing efforts in place to address the current EAB infestation. Anyone interested is welcome and encouraged to attend the meeting.
The EAB is a small but destructive beetle that infests and kills North American ash tree species, including green, white, black and blue ash. A multi-agency effort is underway to address the EAB infestation and includes partners from the state Department of Agriculture and Markets; U.S.
Department of Agriculture Animal Plant Health Inspection
Service (APHIS); the United States Forest Service; the State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation; the State Emergency Management Office; State Department of Transportation; Cornell Cooperative Extension; and the Seneca Nation.

ARE YOU READY FOR THE SUMMER HEAT?
Albany, NY- As the days get longer and warmer, State and Federal emergency management officials warn that extreme heat can be very dangerous and in some instances even fatal, so it is important to be ready.

When the air temperature or humidity rises above optimal range for comfort, evaporation is slowed and the body must work harder to maintain a normal temperature.
Exposure to extreme heat can cause physical problems and may cause heat disorders or illnesses. Older adults, young children and those who are sick or overweight are most vulnerable to extreme heat.

Conditions that can induce heat-related illnesses include stagnant atmospheric conditions and poor air quality.
Consequently, people living in urban areas may be at greater risk from the effects of a prolonged heat wave than those living in rural areas.

During extremely hot weather, you should take the following precautions: •Stay indoors as much as you can, on lower floors if possible. •Limit exposure to the sun and use sun block with a high sun protector factor rating (at least 15 spf) if you must be outdoors. •If your home does not have air conditioning, spend the hottest part of the day in public buildings such as libraries, schools, movie theaters, shopping malls, and other community facilities. •Use fans. Circulating air can cool the body by increasing the perspiration rate of evaporation. •If you have window air conditioning, eliminate any holes or gaps around the installation. •Check air-conditioning ducts for proper insulation. •Eat well-balanced, light, and regular meals. Avoid using salt tablets unless directed to do so by a physician. •Drink plenty of water.
Persons who have epilepsy or heart, kidney, or liver disease;
are on fluid-restricted diets; or have a problem with fluid retention should consult a doctor before increasing liquid intake. •Limit intake of alcoholic beverages. •Dress in loose-fitting, lightweight, and light-colored clothes that cover as much skin as possible. •Protect your face and head by wearing a wide-brimmed hat. •Check on family, friends, and neighbors who do not have air conditioning and who spend much of their time alone. •Never leave children or pets alone in closed vehicles. •Avoid strenuous work during the warmest part of the day, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.. Have a buddy system when working in extreme heat, and take frequent breaks. •Exercise should be done in the early morning hours between 4-7 a.m. •Make sure there is enough food and water for pets.

Heat-Induced Illnesses
Exposure to extreme heat can cause serious illness. Heat Cramps are painful spasms, usually in leg and abdominal muscles, and may be accompanied by heavy sweating. Heat Exhaustion is more serious. Symptoms include heavy sweating, but skin may be cool, pale, or flushed. Fainting or dizziness, weak pulse, nausea, vomiting, exhaustion, and headaches may occur.

If you experience any of these symptoms, sit or lie down in a cool place, loosen your clothing, and sip half a glass of water every 15 minutes. Discontinue drinking water if you become nauseous, and seek immediate medical attention if vomiting occurs.

Heat Stroke is a severe medical emergency and can be life-threatening. Symptoms include a high body temperature, as much as 105 degrees; hot, red, dry skin; rapid, weak pulse; rapid shallow breathing; and possible loss of consciousness. If you suspect you have heat stroke, seek immediate medical assistance or call 911.

Sunburn is a common summer problem. In severe cases it can cause swelling, blisters, fever, and headaches. Take a shower using soap to remove oils that may block pores, preventing the body from cooling naturally. Apply dry, sterile dressings to any blisters and, if they persist, see a doctor.

Energy Conservation •Power outages are more likely to occur during warm weather, when utility usage is at its peak.

In the future, I will try to supply BR Sox's' fans with unlimited Yankee tickets!

To avoid putting a strain on the power grid, conserve energy to help prevent power disruptions. •Set your air conditioner thermostat no lower than 78 degrees. •Only use the air conditioner when you are home. •Turn non-essential appliances off. Only use appliances that have heavy electrical loads early in the morning or very late at night.

OLEAN GENERAL'S CT SCANNER RECEIVES THREE-YEAR NATIONAL ACCREDITATION

Olean General Hospital's 64-slice computed tomography (CT) scanner has proven its performance accuracy by receiving a second consecutive three-year accreditation from a peer-reviewed survey by the American College of Radiology (ACR).

The accreditation shows Olean General's CT scanner and staff are performing at the highest possible levels to ensure patients' diagnostic images are clear and precise, and are being interpreted accurately for effective therapy treatments.

"ACR accreditation is the most established and well-respected form of credentialing that can be obtained. By having this credential we meet or exceed the highest standards that would ever be expected from an institution," said Alexandra Wesley, M.D., a radiologist who's also site director at OGH's Radiology Services.

The ACR, headquartered in Reston, Va., awards accreditation to facilities for achieving high-practice standards after a peer-review evaluation of its practice. Evaluations are conducted by board-certified physicians and medical physicists who are experts in the field, stated Shawn Farley, ACR's director of public affairs. They assess image quality, personnel qualifications, adequacy of facility equipment, quality control procedures and quality assurance programs.

The surveyors report their findings to ACR's Committee on Accreditation, which subsequently provides the healthcare facility with a comprehensive report.

"Being accredited sets the standard for quality images and diagnostics," said Helen Layman, RT (R), (N), (M), NMTCB, Director of Imaging and Radiation Services at OGH. "It also holds our staff to a quality standard for good patient care," she added.

"Olean General volunteered to go through the rigorous review process to be sure we meet nationally accepted standards," Ms. Layman said, noting the hospital underwent four months of protocol reviews by ACR. This is the second time Olean General received a three-year accreditation from ACR.

Olean General has had its 64-slice CT scanner since 2006, said Ms. Layman.

For patients requiring a CT scan, and in particular those needing a cardiac, brain or peripheral vascular examination, the Siemens SOMATOM Sensation 64-slice CT enables radiologists to see more anatomical detail in a fraction of the time previously required with a conventional CT. Olean General's 64-slice CT scanner simplifies sophisticated cardiovascular and brain examinations, making them non-invasive and pain-free.

ACR is a national professional organization serving more than 32,000 diagnostic/interventional radiologists, radiation oncologists, nuclear medicine physicians and medical physicists with programs focusing on the practice of medical imaging and radiation oncology, and the delivery of comprehensive healthcare services.

Olean General Hospital and Bradford Regional Medical Center are members of Upper Allegheny Health System. fb

“MARK TWAIN” VISITS BOLIVAR!

On Sunday, June 13, 2010,
Mike Randall, actor and WKBW-TV's chief meteorologist, entertained the crowd with his excellent performance and impersonation of Mark Twain at the BRCS High School. He later visited the Bolivar
Free Library to further celebrate their 100th Anniversary!

Mike Randall began impersonating America's greatest author
at the age of seventeen!

For more than 30
years & over 2,000
performances, the actor continues to enjoy his close encounter with Mark Twain.

Randall has performed numerous other roles in theatre
and TV commercials.
This past December,
he put together a recreation of Charles Dickens performing

World War II Veteran Receives High School Diploma

On June 15, at its regular meeting, the Board of Education presented Mr. Herman White (92) of Coon Hollow Road, Portville with his high school diploma. Mr. White was unable to graduate with his class of 1936 because he needed to go to work to help out his mother.

Herman later was drafted into the military. At the age of 24, Mr.
White married Rosemary the only woman he had ever dated. They were married for 65 years before her passing.

Mr. White retired from Olean
Wholesale after 27 years of service.

The Bolivar-Richburg Central School Board of Education would like to congratulate Mr. White on receiving his diploma and thanked him for serving his country and protecting all US citizens.

TYPE O NEGATIVE BLOOD SUPPLY DROPS TO CRITICALLY LOW LEVELS

Red Cross Asks Eligible Volunteer Blood Donors to Help Make Up For Shortfall

June 14, 2010 - The supply of type O negative blood at the American Red Cross has dropped to critically low levels. Type O negative blood is always in high demand because it can be transfused to patients with any blood type, especially in emergency situations. Type O negative donors are needed now to help prevent the type O negative blood supply from declining further.

"The American Red Cross is extending blood drive hours and reaching out to eligible blood donors, sponsors and community leaders to ask them to help recruit type O negative blood donations to help make up for this shortfall," says Donna M. Morrissey, spokesperson for the American Red Cross Blood Services - Northeast Division.

"While all blood types are needed during the summer months, we urge those eligible donors with O negative blood type to make and keep appointments to give blood in the upcoming days to help restore the inventory level," Morrissey added.

"The Red Cross monitors the blood inventory on a daily basis and when we see a trend or shortage emerging, we communicate the need to our generous blood donors to help us make up the shortfall," said Morrissey.

Eligible volunteer blood donors are asked to please call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or visit www.redcrossblood.org to find a blood drive and to make appointments.

A shortage of type O negative blood often occurs during the summer months when fewer donors are giving because of summer vacations and schools approaching summer break are hosting fewer drives.

Every two seconds, someone in the United States needs blood. The Red Cross New York - Penn Blood Services Region provides lifesaving blood to 120 hospitals and must have 1,200 people give blood and platelets each weekday to meet hospital demand. Accident victims as well as patients with cancer, sickle cell disease, blood disorders and other illnesses receive lifesaving transfusions every day. There is no substitute for blood and volunteer donors are the only source.

Individuals who are 17 years of age (16 with parental permission in some states), meet weight and height requirements (110 pounds or more, depending on their height) and are in generally good health may be eligible to give blood. Please bring your Red Cross blood donor card or other form of positive ID when you come to donate. fb

THIS IS A HAMMER

By Samantha Mazzotta

Air Conditioner Leaves Him Sweating

Q: My air conditioner, a whole-house unit, doesn't seem to be cooling things down very well this year. It's about 12 years old. We never had a problem, but now we're usually sweating indoors in the afternoon. Is there anything I can do to improve its performance? -- Chuck in Ocala, Fla.

A: You can (and should) check around the outdoor unit to make sure no debris is blocking any of the vents and that there is no visible damage to the unit. You also can switch out the air-conditioning filter inside the house -- something that should be done monthly during the summer. Another component to look at is the thermostat. There's a possibility that it's not setting the temperature correctly, particularly if it's an older analog thermostat.

For an analog thermostat (one on which you turn a dial or move a level to the desired temperature), have a helper go over to your home's heating unit -- rather than the air conditioner, unless you only have an air conditioner. Turn the selector to "heat" and "auto" and set the dial to a high temperature. Your helper should hear a click or other sound as the furnace acknowledges the signal. (If you have only AC, which is still somewhat common in Florida, set the thermostat to "auto" and turn the dial to a very cool temperature. The AC may take a couple of minutes to come on.)

If your thermostat is digital, check and see if it uses batteries. If so, replace them with fresh ones and proceed with the above test. You also can have an electrician come and test the thermostat to make sure it's operating correctly or if it needs to be replaced. Replacing a thermostat is very low-cost and might solve the problem.

If the thermostat isn't the issue, call an AC repair specialist to look at the unit. Twelve years in a hot climate is a long time for a central-air unit to operate -- most are warranted for 10 years max -- so it might be on its last legs.

HOME TIP: Schedule a checkup for your heating or air-conditioning unit every year before the season starts with a licensed heating/AC specialist.

R-AHEC HOSTS SHOWCASE HIGHLIGHTING
HOW TO BUILD PARTNERSHIPS OF THE FUTURE
THROUGH TECHNOLOGY
In association with Tandberg, a world leader in the development and manufacturing of televideo equipment, R-AHEC hosted a Tandberg Technology Showcase on June 9, 2010 at the R-AHEC Learning Center in Warsaw, NY. Known nationally as Tandberg's "Tailgate Tour", this local showcase included presentations by R-AHEC CEO, Dr. Kenneth Oakley, who discussed "The power of video communications", Tandberg's Divisional Director Josh Levy discussing the company's current role and position within the market place, Dr. David Ellis from Erie County Medical Center (via televideo conference from Buffalo) who discussed how important video communication is in enabling telemedicine and Dr. Lance Ford (via televideo conference from Oklahoma) who focused on "21st Century Learning through Video Communications".

Approximately 35 R-AHEC partners attended this showcase and were educated on the ways in which future partnerships can be built or enhanced through televideo conferencing and distance learning capabilities. A session was also provided on how not-for-profits might search for grant funding to purchase conferencing and televideo equipment. In closing, participants also had the opportunity to use some of the equipment offered by Tandberg that was brought to the site via their mobile tractor trailer unit. All those in attendance truly got to see first hand what Tandberg means when using their new slogan, "See Hello!" f
